Zero Waste is a philosophy that encourages the redesign of resource life cycles so that all products are reused. The goal is for no trash to be sent to landfills, incinerators, or the ocean. Only 9% of plastic is actually recycled. The process recommended is one similar to the way that resources are reused in nature. The definition adopted by the Zero Waste International Alliance (ZWIA) is:

You can certainly have multiple threads reading from a data structure, race conditions can potentially occur if any writing is taking place.. To avoid such race conditions you need to define the boundaries that threads can read, if you have an explicit number of data segments and an explicit number of threads to match these then that is easy.
